

YOU'RE HERE TO STAY, SAID YOUNG GALVAN TO MUSICAL SPOUSE

Three Times Has Husband
Brought Operatically Inclined
Wife to Happy Home.

For the third time since their marriage, a few years ago, Rafael O. Galvan of New York returned to-day from a driving trip to Italy to bring back his usually ambitious wife, who was denying his authority by going to Milan to study for grand opera. The affectionate but diametrically-opposed-on-the-subject young couple arrived to-day on the steamer Rotterdam of the Italian-America line, and no sooner sighted Mrs. Galvan set her foot on the pier than she exclaimed:

"Oh, right, I'm here, but I shall go back very soon."

"I shall firmly announce the young husband, 'this time you are here to stay!'"

"You shall see," replied Mrs. Galvan with an enigmatical smile, as they made their way to the customs officers.

It was learned that Mrs. Galvan, who was the Italian Force of Detroit, Mich., has a beautiful soprano voice and for some time has been encouraged by friends and by prominent musicians to study for the operatic stage. Her husband, who is president of the Spanish Cable Association, with headquarters in New York, refused to consider the idea.

Three times, however, Mrs. Galvan has taken a steamer and gone to Milan, Italy, to study under Vincenzo Sabatini, the great instructor. Three times her young husband has patiently chased across and brought her back.

CLASSMATES CHEER YOUNG LAWYER IN COURTROOM.

Judge Malone Permits Noisy Demonstration as William C. Bowers Wins His Maiden Case.

William C. Bowers, son of John M. Bowers, the well known lawyer, won his first case to-day and Judge Malone in General Sessions did not rebuke the cheer which fifteen of his law school classmates gave him. Geoffrey Taylor, son of Howard Taylor, and A. C. Cushing, both of whom hope to follow in their father's footsteps, called for the cheer.

Young Bowers was assigned by Judge Malone to the defense of Thomas Stewart, an iron worker, of No. 41 West Thirty-ninth street, whom two Italians accused of having assaulted and robbed them of $5 at Thirty-ninth street and 25th avenue on May 15. They identified Stewart in court.

Bowers got the client on the stand and Stewart readily admitted the assault, saying that the Italian had indicated him and he had answered with his fist. He denied that he had touched their money. He is a hard worker, married and has several children. He makes $1.50 a day when he works and Bowers showed that Stewart worked steadily.

It took the jury less than five minutes to convict Stewart and then came the cheer at which Judge Malone smiled.

DETECTIVE FOYE FREED ON CHARGE OF PERJURY.

Made "Honest Mistake," Says District Attorney in Recommendation.

Detective Charles E. Foy, once of East Rockaway, who has been under $1000 bail since February on an indictment charging perjury, was discharged to-day by Supreme Court Justice Gregory on his own recognizance. The indictment against him will be dismissed shortly, as it has been established that Foy was guilty of an "honest mistake," as District Attorney Whitman expressed it.

Foy, before the Curran Aldermanic Investigating Committee, accused the Chairman, Henry H. Curran, of having coerced him in the Criminal Court Building and of having asked him then to be easy on James Connaughton, better known as "Murray," whom Foy had arrested for assault and battery.

Later an anonymous letter to the Alderman explained that Foy had mistaken him for Alderman John McCourt of the Ninth District and this Mr. Curran called to the attention of the District Attorney. Curran and McCourt reconciled each other closely. Mr. McCourt admitted that it was he who addressed Foy.

IRISH TO CELEBRATE.

Social Society Observes Its Thirty-fifth Birthday To-Night.

On St. John's Eve, 1879, the Gaelic Society was established in New York to revive Irish customs, the language, literature and music of Ireland. It had remarkable success and several years later, Dr. Douglas Hyde, after visiting this city, established a branch in Dublin, the Gaelic League, which has since spread all over Ireland. In New York the membership includes His Eminence Cardinal Farley, and nearly every leading Irishman in the city. The thirty-fifth anniversary of the Society will be celebrated to-night at its club rooms in the Sumner Arcade, Fifty-ninth street and Madison avenue. Addresses will be delivered by Hon. John W. Carr, Hon. Wm. Bourke Cockran, Gen. Sir R. B. Dwyer, Rev. John H. Dooley, Rev. L. L. Lomen, Denis A. Spillane, Hon. John Jerome Rooney. All the ancient Irish customs will be observed and there will be a concert of Irish music.

CUNARD BRINGS 1,371 AUSTRIAN FARMERS.

Proportion of Children Was Great and Nearly Every Family Will Settle in Middle West.

With the arrival here to-day of the steamship Carpathia of the Cunard line, from Austria and Italy, there came 1,371 farmers and their families, all from Austria and Hungary and all agriculturists by heritage and experience. An unusual proportion of the third class immigrants who came over to-day were children, there being 170 of these, while some of the families numbered a dozen members. Nearly every family is bound for the West, where the heads of the families will take up farming and become American citizens.

MARQUARD GETS BACK HIS STOLEN BELONGINGS.

With His Actress-Wife, Baseball Pitcher Identifies Goods Taken by Elevator Man.

Rube Marquard, the baseball pitcher, and his wife, Blossom Reeder, a vaudeville actress, appeared before Judge Foster in General Sessions to-day to identify property stolen from their home at No. 549 Riverside Drive June 7. William H. Keene, a negro elevator man, pleaded guilty to the theft of 7 armoire's fur coat, two suits of clothes and $100 worth of silverware, as well as a quantity of stuff which he took from nine other tenants of the apartment.

The baseball pitcher was much disturbed because, though he recovered his wearing apparel, the negro "couldn't remember" what had become of the silverware. Marquard was sure, he said, that his spoons and forks had been melted, and was inclined to bitter language on the subject.

But when Judge Foster had sentenced Keene to Elmira Reformatory for an indefinite period, Marquard gathered the reporters about him and said:

"As to baseball I desire to say this: I shall not attempt to pitch nineteen successive winning games this year. The strain a year ago when I accomplished that feat was too great. It nearly killed me."

BILL TO PERMIT POOLING.

Representative Levy Introduced Measure in the House.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Representative Levy of New York put in a bill to-day to permit the Interstate Commerce Commission, in its discretion, to authorize combinations or contracts between railroads, even though in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, if that consideration were outweighed by benefits to the public. Virtually it would permit pooling.
